Quality

The National Committee for Quality Assurance (NCQA) releases ratings annually for Medicaid, Medicare and Commercial health plans that measure specific treatments, preventive care services and consumer satisfaction. Health plans voluntarily choose to participate in NCQA's yearly ratings and publicly share their data, underscoring a strong commitment to transparency and open dialogue about health plan performance and improvement. Plans are rated from 0 to 5 stars in half point increments. For 2015-2016, 78 percent of our rated Medicaid plans received three or more stars in the NCQA Health Insurance Plan Ratings. Our top rated Medicaid plans are Rhode Island at 4.5 stars, Nebraska at 4 stars and Michigan at 4 stars.

UnitedHealthcare Community & State's health plans and care programs are uniquely designed to address the complex needs of the populations they serve, including the chronically ill, those with disabilities and people with high-risk medical, behavioral and social conditions.

We are driving quality improvement through innovative programs that help engage and empower people to become more active participants in their own health, and by collaborating with physicians and other health care professionals to close gaps in care. Additionally, we offer custom programs at the regional and local level, recognizing the unique needs of members in specific markets.

For example, our Patient-Centered Care Model provides integrated physical, behavioral and social services, coordinating care across multi-disciplinary teams to achieve better care, better long-term health and lower costs. Member engagement programs like Baby Blocks support expectant mothers and new parents with customized wellness tips, information about what to expect at provider visits, and rewards for completing appointments during a newborn's first 15 months. Outreach initiatives such as 4-H Food Smart Families are helping families make healthy habits a greater part of their everyday lives. Through these and other quality improvements and investments, we are continuing to make the health care experience more personal, accessible and affordable.

UnitedHealthcare Community & State offers government agencies tools to help them administer their health care delivery systems, including clinical care management and consulting, disease and conditions management and administrative and technological services.
